The Wanamater Store. Semi-Annual Exposition

Of Parisian Masterpieces in Costumes, Wraps, Silk Waists and Lingerie.

THE Wanamaker Store, of New York, following the example of its predecessor, A. T. Stewart, aimed at and secured the acknowledged American leadership in matters of Fashion. These half-yearly exhibitions were originally means to that end. They have become evidences of its attainment.

Since the first of these displays, more than two years ago, there has never been a question as to their value and importance. They are displays possible to very few retail organizations, and, whether possible or not, are not given elsewhere. They are more than merely elaborate displays of merchandise. They have much of the dignity and all of the importance of Public Expositions for public instruction. It does not detract from their value nor narrow the scope of their popular interest, that the subject treated of is Fashion. Few subjects have more, or more devoted, students.

Other Store Attractions.

In every corner of our building, art and skill and foresight have combined to allure and hold your admiration. Come to Wanamaker's as to a Museum of Fine Arts, and, if you will, with no more expectation of buying anything. A stringent store rule makes the officious tender of service a misdemeanor. The stock, like the pictures, is yours to look at freely. And these store features are sights you cannot afford to miss.

The Art Gallery. Fifth floor. Exhibiting a fine The Little French Store. A dainty emporium of collection of modern paintings; -chiefly winners of medals and honors in recent Paris Salons. Added this morning are thirty-three new works, prominent in this year's exhibits.

The Model Apartment. On the Fourth floor, a model flat, furnished completely. A lesson in home furnishing and decoration.

The Oriental Rooms. All the richness of Eastern taste, displayed in perfect harmony. Third floor.

The Flag of Gems. Old Glory in a burst of jewels: diamonds, rubies and sapphires. Displayed strikingly on a black velvet ground. Value $104,000. Rotunda.
